

Forests also need water - and increasing warmer temperatures & drought have been linked to large-scale episodic forest dieback events

Localities with increased forest mortality related to climatic stress from drought and high temperatures

Forests use a lot of water!

But how much varies with many forest characteristics:
Some of which we can manage

Percent ET by land cover